ChamberMaster Announces 2018 Chamber Innovation Awards Competition

NISSWA, Minnesota, USA – September 4, 2018 — ChamberMaster, the market leader in membership management software and services for chambers of commerce, recently announced the launch of its 2018 Chamber Innovation Awards Competition. The competition celebrates enterprising chambers from across North America.

“We are honored to once again sponsor the Chamber Innovation Awards Competition. Over the past four years, the array of inventive and cutting-edge events and programs brought forth by chambers of all sizes has continued to raise the bar,” shared John Cook, ChamberMaster Senior VP of Marketing. “We look forward to this year’s competition, with the knowledge that the entries will likely surpass anything we’ve seen in the past.”

Entries will be judged on creativity, industry impact, value to the organization, value to members, and replicability. The winning chamber will be awarded the $1500 Grand Prize. Additionally, there will be 3 – $500 prizes awarded, one in each of the following categories: Small Chamber, Medium Chamber, and Large Chamber.

The 2018 panel brings a wealth of industry expertise to the competition. Judges include Chamber Pro Frank Kenny, Jamee Jolly, President/CEO of the Plano Chamber of Commerce, Chris Romer, President/CEO of the Vail Valley Partnership, and John Cook, ChamberMaster Senior VP of Marketing.

Chambers of commerce are encouraged to submit their most successful idea, event, or program. The winners will be featured in the 2018 Big Book of Ideas for Chambers of Commerce. This e-book will showcase the successes of inventive and forward-thinking organizations.

The entry period is September 4, 2018 – September 17, 2018. Visit <https://chambermaster.com/2018-chamber-innovation-awards-competition/> for details.
